In addition to using the latest technology available, the oil and gas industry of the 21st century targets the safety of its workers. Our goal is to encourage your employees to learn the skills they need to work safely in the oil and gas industry.

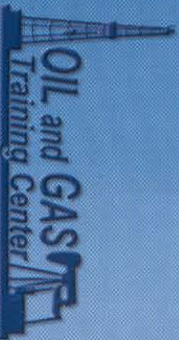

The Oil and Gas Training Center at High Plains Technology Center provides ongoing training for workers in oil and gas drilling. We focus on skills that workers need on the job. Our four-day Derrickhand Training covers six key areas:

- Proper use of safety equipment
- Emergency escape and rescue procedures
- Derrick maintenance and inspections during operations
- Tripping tubulars out of the hole and into the hole
- Drilling and Mud safety
- Mud Pump maintenance and operations

We also offer an optional fifth day of training called Soft Skills for Derrickhands. In this training, your employees will focus on people, communication, and leadership skills.

Make it pay . . .

How does this training benefit you and your company? The bottom line is . . . when your employees work safely, everyone benefits. Employees experience greater job satisfaction because they have a safer work environment. Job satisfaction yields higher retention and lower turnover rates. The number of workers' compensation claims decreases. This saves your company money. Everyone is happier and wealthier.

Send your employees . . .

Our training for the oil and gas industry is ongoing so we can meet your needs quickly. In addition to training related to the drilling industry, we also provide training related to the well servicing and petroleum production industries. To schedule training for your employees, call our Recruitment Coordinator at 580-571-6124.

Save training costs . . .

We concurrently supply this training at no cost to your company or employees. The U.S. Department of Labor covers the cost of training. Although you are not limited on the number of employees you send for training, our training is scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Reap the benefits . . .

Better-trained employees enhance your operations in a positive way. Let us help you with your employee training needs. We also typically have students who have completed training for entry-level jobs in the oil and gas industry. They have completed their certifications and are looking for work. To discuss your employee training options or to hire our trainees, contact our Recruitment Coordinator at 580-571-6124.
