"We encourage all inexperienced applicants to complete Floorhand Training for Oil and Gas Drilling before we hire and place them on the rigs. We find that the first aid, forklift, hands-on, and specific rig training they receive at the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Training Center helps prepare them for our company mentoring and training programs. This program gives new employees to the industry a head start in their careers."

"The Rig Pass program offered by the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Training Center has played an integral part in the success of Cactus Drilling in both personnel safety and rig operations. Cactus has put over 30 rigs in the field the past three years, and every employee placed on our rigs has completed Floorhand Training for Oil and Gas Drilling prior to reporting to their rig. Not only have the employees started their career with Cactus prepared as well as possible, but a corollary effect of the program is the ability of management to get to know the employees in the school environment prior to sending them to the field. This helps inculcate the culture of Cactus to the employees and lets them know who is on their management team. The Rig Pass program has been a prime reason Cactus is so well regarded by our customers and employees."

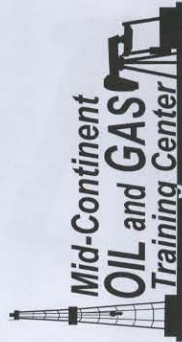

*Kathy Willingham, Director of HR and Safety

"One of my major concerns is the reduction and prevention of injuries. I want to send hands home safe at the end of each tour. We believe that the oil and gas drilling training offered by the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Training Center will help reduce injuries and promote a safer workplace. This will profit employer and employee as well as our families and our communities."

*James Cunningham, Drilling Superintendent
