

Play it safe . . .

Yesterday it was granddaddy's oil patch. Today it is the oil and gas industry of the 21st century. While today's oil and gas workers work hard like yesterday's counterparts, they are using new technology with a greater emphasis on working safely.

And that's why we're here . . . to help them learn the skills they need to work safely in the oil and gas industry.

The Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Training Center provides ongoing training for workers in oil and gas drilling. We focus on skills workers need on the job:

- Work safety
- Basic tools and equipment
- Proper tool use and operation
- Terms and definitions used within the industry

Make it pay . . .

How does this training benefit you and your company? The bottom line is that when your employees work safely, everyone benefits. Employees experience greater job satisfaction because they have a safer work environment. Job satisfaction yields higher retention and lower turnover rates. The number of workers' compensation claims decreases. This saves your company money. Everyone is happier and wealthier.

Send your employees . . .

Our training for the oil and gas industry is ongoing so that we can meet your needs quickly. In addition to the specialized training for the drilling industry, we also offer training in well servicing and petroleum production. To schedule training for your employees, call our Recruitment Coordinator at 1-800-375-6618, X124.

Save training costs . . .

We supply this training at no cost to your company or employees. The U.S. Department of Labor covers the cost of training. Although you are not limited on the number of employees you send for training, our training is scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Hire
our trainees . . .

When you're in the market for new employees, call us. We are a member of the International Association of Drilling Contractors. We typically have students who have completed our training and are ready for entry-level jobs in oil and gas drilling. They have their CPR and first aid, forklift operations, and Rig Pass™ certifications. To hire our trainees, call our Recruitment Coordinator at 1-800-375-6618, X124.
